1868 A printer named SOLES read the article in Scientific American of 1867 describing a "PTEROTYPE" With 2 associate Soles produced a crude shiftles, non-visible machine. They sold this machine for 12,000 to two men who took it to E. Remington and

Aver who used the worden model while writing only in Capital letters was quite acceptable and very successful.